Judge Norris, in sizing up the situation tonight, said he believed that a record vote on the lumber schedule would disclose a majority for free lumber, but he frankly admitted the vote would be extremely close The west and south is generally for duty on hides, the east and north standing for free hides, and the east and north can combine with the middle section of the country, particularly upon barley and barlay mait. It seems to be a safe guess that hides will go on the free list, thereby sustaining the ways and means committee as represented by the Payne tariff bill.

No decision was reached on amendments offered by Miller of Kansas on barley and It is expected that the house will wrestle with that for several hours tomorrow.
